PROPOSALS

For Publishing, by Subscription,
THE COMPLETE WORKS OF

SIR WALTER SCOTT:

With a Biography: being the first American (and only) edition which contains the Author's last additions and illustrations, arranged upon their respective pages.

A COMPLETE and uniform edition of the various productions of the great 'Minstrel of the North,' is a desideratum with the American public. No library is complete without them, and no edition extant is sufficiently compact for such a repository; while the endless number of editions, without any uniformity in size, heretofore published, besides being exceedingly cumbrous, are far too voluminous and expensive to be within the reach of the great majority of readers. The undersigned therefore announce, that they have now in press, and will issue, an edition of the Works of Sir Walter Scott, which will embrace all his Poems, Novels, Histories, Biographies, and Fugitive Compositions, as well as the Biography and Private Correspondence, now in the course of publication in England, under the superintendence of Mr. Lockhart.

1st. In Parts: each Part embracing as much matter as is contained in two volumes of the present editions of the Waverley Novels, which will be put at the unprecedented low price of THIRTY SEVEN AND A HALF CENTS.

2d. Two parts will appear each month; but should the publishers find the work to meet the patronage they anticipate, FOUR PARTS will be issued monthly.

3d. The whole will be completed in seven volumes, or forty eight parts.

The paper on which the above is now printing, has been made expressly for the purpose; the present parts may, therefore, be considered a fair specimen, in every respect, of the whole work; but, should dissatisfaction arise with any subscriber, owing to an inferior article being offered, he may discontinue at any time, and have the amount paid returned.

Note.—The publication of the first volume is deferred until the receipt of the Biography, Private Correspondence, and the New Edition of the Author's Poetical Works, with 'contemporary criticism—various readings—and correspondence with some of the most eminent persons of the time when the Poems first appeared,' now in the course of publication in England.

Volume 1 will be ornamented with an excellent Portrait of Sir Walter Scott.

DAILY PITTSBURGH GAZETTE.

FRIDAY AFTERNOON, NOVEMBER 1, 1833.

Steam Engines in and near Pittsburgh.—Mr. Samuel Church has just called and furnished us with a list of the number of steam engines now in operation in this city and its immediate vicinity; the power of each engine, the number of hands employed, and the amount of coal consumed monthly. Mr. Church has, himself, been at the trouble and expense of having this statement made out—it is entirely satisfactory, so far it goes, but there are still many in the county, not embraced in this list. We hope to receive a list of these also, thro' the kindness of the manufacturers or owners.

The number of engines, embraced in Mr. Church's list, is eighty nine—the number of hands employed, 2111—the monthly consumption of coal, 154,250 bushels.—We will publish this statement next week.

Intruders upon Indian Lands.—The controversy with Alabama, in relation to the Indian lands, seems likely to become one of absorbing interest.—We have no doubt that the administration of the General Government is right in its view of the case, and trust that its course will receive, as did the Proclamation of December last, the undivided approbation of the country.

In looking over the Memoirs of Arthur Lee, we were struck with the following passage, in the Journal which he kept, while forming a treaty at Fort M'Intosh, now Beavertown, with the Delaware and Wyandot Indians. This extract shows, very clearly, the understanding of this able man, in relation to the intruders upon such lands. We have not examined to see whether such a provision was introduced into the Treaty, but presume that it was thought to be too strong a measure, and likely to produce collisions and bloodshed. The more prudent course is that which has been pursued, and is now pursuing, in Alabama.—Let the government remove and punish its own citizens.

The date of this entry, in the Journal, is December 19th, 1784:—

"On the 19th, Mr. Lowry came in, with John Montour and another Indian, who gave us reason to expect the Indians in a few days. Reflecting on what would be the best method to secure the country we obtain from the Indians from being surveyed by the swarms of irregular settlers, it seemed to me that this purpose would be answered, by inserting in the treaty an article in these words:—'If any person shall attempt to survey or settle on any of the said lands, until the commissioners shall have informed the Indians that permission is given by congress to such surveyors, or settlements, such person shall be out of the protection of the United States, and the Indians may drive them away.' This prohibition being made public in a proclamation by the commissioners, would deter persons from attempting settlements, till congress shall have formed such regulations as will at the same time secure a reasonable profit to the public, and settle the country systematically and peacefully. For these purposes, I shall propose this article to my colleagues."

The Harmony Party.—The American Sentinel, a M'Kean paper, rates the Lancaster Journal, a Van Buren paper, after the following fashion—

"The recent course of the editor of the Journal, both in relation to state and county politics, has been such as to excite strong suspicions in the minds of many sound democrats of Lancaster and elsewhere, that he is preparing the way for a backward leap into the federal ranks from which he originally came The denunciation of the office holders under the state government, in his last number, and his threats of coming out in opposition to the state administration, unless they consent to join his denunciations, seem to be in perfect consistency with his treacherous conduct at the late election in Lancaster county, and are well calculated to confirm the suspicions which (we have reason to believe,) are entertained of him by many of the soundest democrats of that county."

At a meeting, held at Beaver, the following resolutions, among others, were passed, and the following strong delegation appointed.

"Whereas, the connection of the Pennsylvania with the Ohio Canal from Akron to the Beaver Division of the Pennsylvania Canal, at or near Newcastle, would not only tend to benefit the section through which it passes, but is of vital importance to the State of Pennsylvania, inasmuch as it will secure her cities of Pittsburgh and Philadelphia, the greater portion of the trade of the upper Lakes, and of the State of Ohio, and States further west of Ohio; whilst it affords to Pennsylvania a new outlet and a new market for her iron and other manufactures—Therefore,

Resolved, That we view with pleasure the efforts that are now making by the citizens of Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, and elsewhere, to arouse public attention to this very important object.

Resolved, That we most cordially approve of the Convention proposed to be held at Warren, on the 13th of November next, called for the purpose of promoting and aiding in the accomplishment of the aforesaid object.

Resolved, That the county of Beaver, having a deep interest in the completion of the cross cut canal, her interests ought to be represented, and her wishes expressed, in that Convention—Therefore,

Resolved, That this meeting appoint ten Delegates to represent Beaver county in that Convention; and that Dr. Oliver Cunningham, Thomas Henry, Esq., Gen. Abner Lacock, James Patterson, Joseph Hoops, Benjamin Adams, Esq., Dr. Joseph Pollock, Dr. Charles Whippo, John Dukehart, jr., and John Clark, Esq. be appointed said Delegates.

Resolved, That this meeting deem it of great importance that the city of Pittsburgh and county of Allegheny be represented in said Convention, and therefore recommend that they assemble and appoint Delegates for that purpose."

Our friends at Beaver need not be uneasy.—Pittsburgh will be represented in Convention—the current of opinion is irresistible.

From the New York American, Oct. 25.

The case of Owens, of which we take from a Charleston paper what is said to be, and we doubt not accurately, an authentic statement, is becoming important as threatening to put again to the test the power of the general government to enforce the laws of the Union, without and against the consent of any State.

This Owens appears to have been one of the worst of that class of adventurers, whom a correspondent of this paper so ably and accurately described on the 17th inst., in a communication on Intruders on the Indian lands. Yet he it is whose death, in the act of forcibly resisting the lawful authority of the United States, may possibly lead to a civil war.

Under any administration but the present this question would not have arisen. Until the Presidency of Gen. Jackson, the policy and practice of the government, respecting Indian lands, and white settlers on them, had been so unvarying and uniform, that no one thought of resisting the course of the federal authorities. In an evil hour, Gen. Jackson, in order to curry favor with Georgia, and probably with that contempt for, and disregard of, Indians, and Indian rights, which the previous practices of a border warfare seem to have rendered habitual to him, unsettled at a breath the whole previous course and policy of the government, and, in violation of law and treaties alike, delivered over the Cherokees to the tender mercies of their oppressors.

Since that period, however, Nullification in South Carolina put the President upon the exercise of the just authority of the general government, and in the memorable proclamation bearing his name, and in the legislative provisions to which it led, principles were put forth and enforced, which, if applied in the case of Georgia, would have given a very different aspect to the Cherokee question.

Now, Alabama presents herself, less advantageously, indeed, as to title, but generally upon the same principles of State sovereignty and supremacy as Georgia, in defence of her citizens, who have unlawfully intruded upon the Creek lands, and whom, as bound by treaty to do, when so required by the Creeks, the United States authorities are removing.

We should think that there could not be two opinions in the United States on the abstract right and duty of the federal government to interfere in this matter, nor concerning the obligation of Alabama to acquiesce in that interposition. Yet the Richmond Enquirer, we observe, invokes the Government to pause, to send commissioners of inquiry, &c.—do any thing but execute the law. This is really child's play, and should have an end.

We have seen already too much of this paltering with the just authority of law, when States have chosen to consider themselves aggrieved. It is time the question should be settled whether ours is, indeed, as we claim, a government of laws—certain, inflexible, and, therefore, impartial and just—beneath which the helpless Indian has a buckler as sure as the most powerful party leader.

If, in such a case as this of Owens, there is to be inquiry, commissioners, appeals to State rights, interposition mayhap of Umpire States, another embassy peradventure from Virginia, it would be as well, at once, to admit that the Union is a rope of sand, and the Constitution and the laws, made in pursuance thereof, dead letters.

CASE OF OWENS.

The Charleston Courier publishes, from an authentic source, the following statement, in relation to the case of Owens, who was an intruder among the Creek "reserves," and killed in the attempt to resist the authority of the United States.

The territory, inhabited by the "Creek Nation," belongs to the United States, by actual purchase, although it is included in the limits of what will be the State of Alabama. When it was purchased of the Indians, it was provided, by a clause in the treaty, that "the Indians should be the possessors up to a stated time, (about three years hence) and that each of those who cultivated farms, should have a "reserve" of 300 acres to dispose of, after it (the reserve) was surveyed, as he pleased." The Indians, therefore, are still possessors of the soil. An act of the Legislature of Alabama divides the "nation" into counties; and because the President did not formally object to this, some of the Alabamians say that the State properly owns the soil. This act has induced many of the whites to settle in the "nation." Many of them settle among the Indians for the purpose of making money in the most expeditious way, viz: by cheating them out of their "reserves" and negroes. In this class was Owens. Many of them forcibly dispossess the poor, unprotected Indian, of his house and cultivated lands. Owens had the unenviable honor of being of this class also. The Indians have a right, granted by the treaty, of complaining of those who thus "intrude" on them. They complained, among others, of Owens. It was proved that he had dispossessed one man of his house and farm, and a young girl of another farm of 100 acres of valuable land, and broke her arm for complaining; and, with others, (among them a dentist,) robbed the Indian graves—the dentist, for the teeth, and Owens for the silver ornaments and beads, which are always buried with the Indian dead, and these he afterwards sold in his shop. For these acts of violence and robbery, and other outrages, the U. S. Marshal informed Owens that he must leave the "nation."—This he refused to do. Whilst those charged with his removal, were attempting to eject him, he endeavored to blow them up in the house, but failed; and afterwards, when summoned to surrender, he drew arms, and was shot. The Marshal had previously extended to him all the indulgence in his power; and, on one occasion, obtained his promise to go; but his wife urged him to remain. This is the man, about whom, and this is the state of the affair, about which, some are endeavoring to create a difficulty with the General Government! The nullification that the Alabamians contended for, is not South Carolina nullification, nor any thing like it. South Carolina resisted an act of the general government that she alleged to be unconstitutional—the Alabama nullifiers assert a claim to what does not, nor never did, belong to their State—a clause in the constitution of the State positively disclaiming, in favor of the U. S., any right to the Creek lands.

Comment on the above details is scarcely necessary—they disclose a revolting picture of violence and oppression. Owens was an outlaw and desperado, robbing and committing other outrages on those whom the government was bound to protect—and that with a ferocity belying his lineage, that paid no respect to sex, and a greedy avarice that invaded even the sanctuary of the dead; he was, too, an open contemner of the government, abusing its clemency, and defying its power; and he provoked and met death in the act of doing violence to its officers. Is it not then strange that men should be found so blinded by the spirit of party, as to stigmatize this act of justice, sought by and done on a felon in spirit, if not in deed, as foul murder? Is it not even stranger that it should be denounced as an invasion of State sovereignty, and be seized as an occasion for collision with the general government? We feel satisfied that it was an act of justifiable homicide, done, and unavoidably done, in the execution of lawful authority, upon one who provoked his fate by unlawful armed resistance. But let it be viewed in any aspect, we insist that the sovereign rights of Alabama are not involved in it. If Owens was killed without lawful authority or if he was slain wantonly and unnecessarily, even in the execution of an undoubted law, those who acted without law, or abused the law, must answer for the deed, before the courts of the country, and abide the judgment of their peers. It differs not from any other case, where a federal officer may inflict death, in attempting to arrest a wrong doer, or otherwise execute the law. The sovereignty of Alabama is just about as much concerned in the killing of Owens, for resisting with arms his removal by federal officers, from the Indian Territory, as the sovereignty of South Carolina would be in killing a mail robber or private in the streets of Charleston, for resisting with arms his arrest by the federal Marshal.

We learn, from the source above referred to, that the garrison at Fort Mitchell, (Ala.) has been reinforced by another company from Augusta, and that the whole command will move in a few days to remove all the white settlers from the Indian lands. This seems to be a harsh measure, and we regret that some milder one should not have been deemed sufficient to maintain the rights of the government, and protect the Indians from robbery and fraud. The government however knows the extent of the evil, and can best judge of the appropriate remedy. Its right to act on the matter, in its own way, we hold to be undoubted—but expediency would dictate a resort to force, only in case of very strong necessity.

Catching a Weasel Asleep.—A custom house officer, in New York, while on duty a few nights since, as a watchman, and while indulging himself in a nap, was robbed of a gold patent lever watch and safety chain, said to be worth $150, for the recovery of which $20 reward is offered.

Heat of Animals.—The heat of the human body will raise the mercury of the thermometer to about 98 degrees. That of other animals varies very widely. A writer in the Juvenile Rambler observes that the heat of some fishes and reptiles is below 50, while that of some birds is as high as 110. The wolf comes nearest to man in this respect, his heat being 96. The dog, cat, hog, sheep, and ox, are from 100 to 103; the shark, 83; the whale, 104; the house sparrow and the robin, sometimes, 111, which is the maximum, so far as we know. It is curious to observe that the Arctic wolf has a reasonable advantage of 9 degrees over the wolf of our own latitude.—Poulson.

The Drop of Water, the Brook, the River, and the Ocean.—A drop of water, that sparkled like a jewel in the sun, once fell from the clouds, into a little mountain stream, and, ere it lost its identity, exclaimed, in all the anguish of desolation, "Alas! what a catastrophe—I am swallowed up in immensity." The little stream laughed, as it leaped down the mountain side, at the lamentation of such an insignificant thing as a drop of water, and, vain of its consequence, continued brawling its crystal way, in the pride of conscious superiority, until it at length, with a sudden plunge, fell headlong into a mighty river, and, like the drop of water, was lost in a moment, crying out, in its last agonies, "O Fate! who would have thought a brook of my size could be swallowed so easily?" The river murmured its contempt for the little foolish stream, and continued its course, gathering strength and pride, breaking through mountains, tearing the rocks from their seats, and coursing, in a thousand graceful meanders, through the flowery meadows, until it found its way to the vast and melancholy ocean, in whose boundless waste it lost its being, like the drop of water, and the little mountain stream.

"Is it possible," exclaimed the mighty river, "that I have been thus collecting tribute from half the world, only to become nothing at last?"

"'Tis thus with thee, O man!—Thou beginnest in insignificance, like the drop of water: thou becomest a laughing, leaping, brawling thing, like the brook; thou waxest proud and great, like the mighty river—and, ere thou canst say, in the vanity of thy heart—"What an illustrious mortal am I," thou art lost in eternity.

Influence of the Moon on Rain.—From the commencement of a series of observations, continued for twenty eight years, at Munich, Stutgard, and Augsburg, by Professor Schubler, it appears that the maximum number of rainy days takes place between the first quarter and the new moon. The number of rainy days in the last of these intervals, is to that in the first, as 696 to 815, or in round numbers, as 5 to 6. And this portion is not only true of the twenty eight years taken together, but also of the separate groups of four years, which gave analagous numbers—we, therefore, conclude that it rains more frequently during the wane of the moon. The results obtained by Schubler, receive support from a series of observations made by Pilgrim, at Vienna. On one hundred repititions of the same phase, Pilgram found the falls of the rain to be as follows: new moon, 26, mean of the two quarters, 25, full moon, 29; consequently, at Vienna, as well as at Augsburg and Stutgard, it rains more frequently on the day of the full, than on that of the new moon. Arago remarks in regard to the observations: "Confining ourselves to the principal results, it seems difficult to resist the conclusion that the moon exercises an influence on our atmosphere; that in virtue of this influence, rain falls more frequently towards the second octant, than at any other period of the lunar month; and lastly, that the chances of rain are fewest between the last quarter and the fourth octant.

Singular properties of the figure 9.—Multiply 9 by itself, or by any other of the digits, and the figures of the products added together will amount to 9.—The component figures of the amount of the multipliers, (viz. 45) when added together make 9.

The amount of the several products or multipliers of 9, (viz. 405) when divided by 9, gives a quotient of 45; and the component figures of either the dividend or quotient added together make 9.

Multiply any row of figures either by 9, or by any one of the products of 9 multiplied by one of the digits, as by 18, 27, 36, 45, 54, 63, or 81, and the sum of the figures of the product added together will be dividable by 9.

Multiply the nine digits in the following order: 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9, by nine, or by any one of the products of 9, mentioned in the last paragraph, and the product will come out all in one figure, except the places of tens, which will be an 9, and that figure will be the one which multiplied into 9, supplies the multiplier; that is, if you select 9 as the product as the multiplier, the product will be (except the places of tens) all ones; if you select 18, all twos, if 27, all threes, and so on. Omit the 8 in the multiplicand, and the 0 will also vanish from the product, leaving it all ones, twos, threes, &c. as the case may be.

A steam vessel, on a new construction, was launched lately at Barnstaple. She is built without timbers, and consists merely of courses of thin planking crossing each other diagonally and fastened through the whole. The dimensions are 86 feet in length, and 12 feet in breadth. The object is light draught of water, and this has been so far realized that the vessel floated, when with six tons of ballast on board, at only 15 inches. She will be towed round to Hayle, Cornwall, to be fitted with engines. It is calculated that her draught, with engines of 50 horse power, and materials on board complete for sea, will not exceed two feet. The paddles are so arranged as to obviate the evils of concussion and swell. Her destination is between Hayle and Goole. A smaller vessel of similar build, is intended for navigating the Aire and Calder Canal, between Goole and Leeds, and will form a link of communication between the above boat and line of coaches to Sheffield, Wakefield, Huddersfield, etc. Passengers will thereby be enabled to reach Manchester from Hull in 12 hours.—Devon Advertiser.

Use of Tobacco.—It is stated in the French papers, that by mixing tobacco juice with the pitch and tar used in paying the seams in a ship's bottom, the attacks of worms and destructive insects will be prevented, and coppering rendered unnecessary.

Money Market.—The Standard says that good notes can be discounted for less than eighteen per cent. per annum. How much less? That paper says, "the deposit banks do all that they can with safety under present circumstances." Indeed! And what are the 'circumstances' which make it unsafe to discount upon three or four millions they illegally hold of the People's money? Why, says the Standard, 'if they had but the specie in the vaults of the U. S. Bank, money would be less than eighteen per cent. per annum.' 'Are you there, old Truepenny?' Why don't you go and take it out of the vaults of the Bank? Don't stand on trifles, man, after having grossly violated the charter. Take out the specie by force, if you want it. The Regency will declare that it is all right, and send approbatory resolutions for adoption in every county of the State.—N. Y. Evening Star.

We have this morning received a letter, from a very respectable and intelligent resident of Pittsburg, who expresses the apprehension that we, of Philadelphia, are not sufficiently alive to the necessity of going to work, quickly and vigorously, for the purpose of securing, to our State and to our City, a fair share of the Western Trade. When his letter was written he had certainly good cause for accusing us of inertness; but we may look for speedy and effective operations as the result of the resolutions adopted on Saturday evening at the District Court Room.

Our correspondent has sent us a Pamphlet—printed at Pittsburgh—in which the necessity of a junction of the Pennsylvania Canal, with that of the Ohio, is proved conclusively. The writer proceeds to show that the work may be accomplished with ease, at a cost not worth comparing with the certain profits. The several modes proposed, he discusses clearly and fairly; and adds several reports and other documents, which convey much valuable information.—Philad. Chron.

The Lowell Journal recommends the following extract from the last number of Richard's Almanac: Always attend at the Polls.—It is every man's duty, and he who neglects it neglects the most important duty which attaches to civil and religious freedom. Profitable Investment.—Capt. Steele, of the brig Chalcedony, sailed from this port, on the 14th of October, 1831, for the Coast of California. Just previous to his departure he invested the whole stock of his affections in a wife, which he took out with him as cabin freight on speculation.—The brig returned from her long voyage, this morning, and we are happy to learn that Captain Steele and his lady are in excellent health, and that a fine boy and beautiful girl, named, respectively, Neptune and Ianthe, have been passed to the Credit of Profit and Loss—balance of the Matrimonial Speculation—since the brig's absence.—Boston Transcript.

The Disturbances in Alabama.—The difficulties which have arisen between the Federal and State Authorities, in Alabama, respecting the expulsion of the intruders on the Indian lands, not only continue, but would seem to be rising to a height to threaten seriously the peace of the country, the Governor of the State having taken measures for organizing a military force, with the view, doubtless, of maintaining the stand which the State Authorities have assumed.

In what the General Government has done towards expelling the intruders, it has acted unquestionably in obedience to the laws of the land, and, therefore, in the strict line of its duty. The execution of this duty, however, is rendered extremely embarrassing, by the magnitude of the evil which the Government is called on to repress—for the number of persons who have gone upon, and for the most part settled on, the Indian lands, is said to amount to twenty thousand or more. The case, therefore, presented to the Government, is one of a very delicate nature, involving measures of great responsibility, requiring wise councils so to shape them as to assert the supremacy of the laws without appeal, if possible, to the ultima ratio. It is now a matter of increased regret, that by compromising the duty and dignity of the Government in a neighboring State, and on a kindred question, the Administration encouraged this infraction of the law, which it is now called upon to repress, and, at the same time, weakened that moral power, which is the most valuable of all power a government can possess over its own citizens.

The Government, we dare say, is exerting itself to adjust the present difficulty in a manner compatible at once with its own credit and the public peace. An agent, an officer of rank and discretion, left the city lately for Alabama, with a large sum of money, to be disbursed, we understand, amongst the Indians; but whether in any way connected with the dispute, or to operate immediately or remotely in its adjustment, we do not know. Whatever the object of the mission, we hope it may not be thwarted by the kind of money which, according to the new arrangement of the public funds, or by the special order of the Secretary of the Treasury, he was obliged to take with him. But we fear he will find that the notes of the favored Bank of the Metropolis, which he carried, will not be received as readily as would those of the proscribed Bank of the United States. This may be cited as one of the mischievous effects of the transfer of the public money to the local banks, not to say any thing of the danger of carrying so large a mass of bank notes such a journey through the country, instead of taking a draft on a neighboring Branch of the Bank of the United States, and drawing the money on the spot, without the trouble or danger of transportation, as might have been the case, had the funds of the government remained in that institution.—*Nat. THE TWO HARPS—by the hon. mrs. norton.

And dost thou say my heart is cold,
Because thine eye can not discover
(As round its jealous glance is rolled
On glittering crowds) one welcome lover?
And dost thou think I cannot love
Because thy suit my lips reprove?

Oh! valueless the wind harp's tone,
Which, swept by summer's careless breezes,
Gives forth a wild, uncertain moan,
As often as the zephyr pleases.
Who marks its faint and ceaseless sigh?
Once heard, it hath no melody.

But when the stricken lyre, which long
Hath hung upon the wall decaying,
Breathes out its soul of love and song,
Obedient to the minstrel's playing;
And to its master's touch alone
Responds with fond and plaintive tone—

Then, then the power of music breaks
The spell that bound our calmer feeling,
And every slumbering passion wakes
In answer to its wild appealing;
Till our swoln hearts, too full of words,
Die trembling on those quivering chords.

Years bring no change. Even tho' we stand
Where cold the minstrel's form is lying,
Fancy shall see that skilful hand
Once more among the sweet strings flying;
And music's floating notes may come,
To mock the silence of the tomb!

And many an hour, and many a day,
Shall memory please herself, by bringing
Small, scattered fragments of the lay
That hung upon that wild harp's ringing;
Though summer breeze caress in vain,
And soulless hands awake no strain.

Even so the heart, that, sad and cold,
Warms not beneath thy careless wooing,
Hath known love's power, in days of old,
And worshiped—to its own undoing—
And many a passion, quiet now,
Hath glowed upon my faded brow.

And still, per chance, the day may come,
When from its halls of silence taken,
That heart, in its deserted home,
To life, and love, and joy, shall waken;
It hath the music at command—
But thine is not the master's hand!

CLASSICAL SCHOOL.

THE Subscriber respectfully informs the public that he has opened a School, in James town, Mercer county, Pa., under the name of the UNION ACADEMY, wherein are taught the various branches constituting a classical education. He already has a number of scholars from very respectable familes in Erie, Crawford, Mercer, and Allegheny counties, and hopes that the salubrity of the town, low charge for board and tuition, and his qualifications as a teacher, may induce many who are not aware of the existence of such a seminary of learning to send their sons to it. The school is divided into five classes, and at a late examination they were examined in the following books, viz:

1st Class—Græca Majora,
2d " Virgil and Sallust,
3d " Ovid's Metemorphoses,
4th " Ovid and Cæsar.
5th " Viri Romæ and HistoriaSacra.'

French is also taught.

Price of tuition for all the above branches is four dollars per quarter. Comfortable boarding and lodging can be had in the town for one dollar per week.

The annexed certificates may be satisfactory to persons wishing to send their children; and I beg leave to refer to Rev. John Black for his opinion of the character of the scholars.

CERTIFICATE OF THE EXAMINERS.
JAMES TOWN, Oct. 15, 1833.

We, the undersigned, have this day examined Mr. Gamble's Classical School, and were highly gratified in witnessing the progress made by his pupils. We have no hesitation in saying, they did honor to themselves and to their teacher. The pupils gave every evidence of diligence and close application to study; while the skill and judgment which they exhibited, in parsing and in prosody, evidently proved the superior plan of instruction employed by their teacher.

We most cordially recommend Mr. Gamble as a teacher of no ordinary grade; and are persuaded that at his school a sound and thorough classical education may be obtained.

SIX EGYPTIAN MUMMIES
In the Diamond, next door to the office of The Pittsburgh Gazette.

THE features of some of these mummies are in perfect expression—the hair of the head preserved as if now living. For the direct purpose of giving visitors, of all descriptions, that wish to see the ancients themselves, and likewise the bodies that were embalmed not less than three thousand years ago, this collection was exhibited to a numerous concourse of visitors, in the city of Philadelphia, for the space of 3 months; and next in Baltimore, in the Museum, for five weeks, where contract was only made for two weeks, and continued for five weeks by request. The inhabitants of this city, it is hoped, will call, and patronize a collection worthy the attention of the curious.

The proprietor is authorized to use the names of the most eminent physicians and professors in the city of Philadelphia, and likewise that of Baltimore.

SALE OF REAL ESTATE.

THE Subscribers, Trustees of the New Philadelphia Society, at Phillipsburgh, Beaver county, Pennsylvania, offer for sale the following property, to wit:

1 tract of land containing		330 acres
1	do	do	330
1	do	do	67
1	do	do	7
1	do	do	40
other lots, containing about			6

The above lands lie in one body, fronting about two miles upon the Ohio river—immediately opposite the mouth of Big Beaver creek, and the Beaver Division of the Pennsylvania Canal. The land is rich, and a part of it under a high state of cultivation—its location pleasant and healthy. The improvements upon the same are valuable, including the town of Phillipsburgh, late the residence of Count Leon, and the New Philadelphia Society. The town contains about 40 Dwelling Houses, now in order; some of them brick houses and two stories high. A large and spacious Hotel, a Store house, Church, a number of Shops, for mechanics, Stables, Barns, and other out houses. Also, two large new buildings, lately erected, but not yet finished, one of brick, the other of frame (the latter suitable for a manufactory) a very extensive public garden, and also fruit trees of various kinds. The property has also attached to it the right of a ferry across the Ohio, which is valuable, and becoming more so every day.

The above property is situated in the midst of a wealthy and prosperous country, distant about 28 miles below Pittsburgh, and one mile from Beaver, the seat of justice for Beaver county—and having a view for many miles up and down the Ohio, and of the country to a great distance around.

The subscribers are confident in saying that few situations could be found, presenting greater facilities to the farmer, mechanic, the manufacturer, and others—a soil rich and productive—the neighborhood abounding in coal—well timbered and watered, and, by means of the Pennsylvania Canal, and steamboat navigation, a cheap and ready conveyance to market, and a communication with other places is ensured.

The property is susceptible of divisions into farms, or for the location of new towns, or for the extension of the present one.

Should it not be sold on or before the first day of January next, it will then be offered at public sale, upon the premises, to the highest and best bidder.

It will be sold in a body, or in parcels, to suit purchasers.

Terms of sale will be reasonable.

Information can be had by enquiring of the subscribers, two of whom live in the neighborhood, and one on the premises.

PERIODICALS.

AMERICAN RAILROAD JOURNAL, and Advocate of Internal Improvements, which is designed as a repository of the accounts of the rise and progress of numerous works of Internal Improvement, in the United States particularly, and in other parts of the world generally. The work is published weekly, and forms a large octavo volume each year, of 832 pages of 3 columns each, for $3 per annum, in advance.

New York Farmer, and American Gardener's Magazine. This work is designed for the agriculturist, and will be found to contain much, both interesting and profitable, to those who cultivate the soil as a business, or merely a garden for amusement. Published in monthly parts of 32 large octavo pages, with three columns each, at $3 per annum, in advance.

Mechanics' Magazine, and Register of Improvements and Inventions. To the Mechanics of the United States--In this populous and enlightened country, almost every description of persons can obtain knowledge and amusement connected with their peculiar pursuits, through the medium of the Journal or Magazine, especially devoted to their interests. The Theologian, the Farmer, the Philosopher, the Sportsman, and even the Plough Boy, has each his Journal, where he can find a record of the passing events of the day, connected with his peculiar avocations and recreations. Hitherto, the Mechanics (who form a large and most important portion of the community) have had no Journal, to which they could turn, with the certainty of finding that information they desire, no periodical of which they could say: 'This is ours, and for us.' In the hope that the attempt to supply such a want at a price so reasonable as to be within the reach of all, will meet with your active support, the subscriber proposes to publish, on the first day of each month, a Mechanics' Magazine. It will contain a well digested selection of the most useful and interesting articles in the London Mechanics' Magazine, London Register of Arts and Sciences, Repertory of Inventions, Library of Useful Knowledge, Journal of the Franklin Institute, and other works, connected with the arts and manufactures, published in this country and in Europe, accompanied with numerous and well executed Engravings. Its pages will be open for the communications of all, and especially for those of the practical artisan, to whose interest it will be particularly devoted. The Mechanics' Magazine will contain, also, a due portion of the occurrences of the month, Scientific and Literary Reviews of Books, Anecdotes, Economical Receipts, Reports of the state of Mechanics' Institutions, and other Scientific Societies in this state and other countries. To be published monthly. Each succeeding number will contain 64 pages, handsomely printed, and stitched in a neat cover. Six numbers will form a volume, for which an index and title page will be supplied, and also a Portrait of some distinguished Mechanic, as a Frontispiece. Terms, $3 per annum, in advance.

SATIN BEAVER
HAT MANUFACTORY,
NO. 6 ST. CLAIR STREET, PITTSBURGH.

WILSON & SMITH, from N. York,

RESPECTFULLY inform the citizens of Pittsburgh and the neighboring towns, that they have commenced the manufacture of the above beautiful and elegant article, so much admired and worn throughout Europe, and the principal cities in the United States.

W. & S. beg leave to observe, that, after various experiments, they have at last succeeded in bringing this Hat to the highest state of perfection, and they can assert, with confidence, that in point of color, lightness, elasticity, durability, and general beauty of appearance, they cannot be surpassed by the most expensive Hat that is made. Gentlemen are invited to call and examine them, and judge for themselves.

Wholesale Dealers supplied at the same prices as in the New York markets.

DOCTOR ROBERT'S
☞ WELCH MEDICAMENTUM ☜

FOR the cure of Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints Jaundice, Cholic, Fever and Ague, Dysentery, Headach, Loss of Appetite, Flatulence, Hypochondria, Hysterics, Dropsical Complaints, and Heartburn, It also prevents all Bilious disorders, and removes habitual Costiveness, Asthma, Strangury, Gravel, Rheumatism, Gout, and Impurities of the Blood.

A person who uses this Medicamentum will not require the use of the lancet, or any means of the healing art. It restores and revives the animal spirits, invigorates the system, removes nervous tremors, obtunds rheumatic and anthritic pains, and prevents their return. It cleanses the stomach of all morbid humors, which cause indigestion, acidities, headach, and lowness of spirits; cures all bilious disorders, and all cholics of the stomach and bowels, almost immediately; inspires cheerfulness; gives comfort to the dropsical; takes away palpitation of the heart; gives circulation to the blood; restores bloom to the sallow or sickly cheek, and plumpness to the meagre habit; purges without pain, and banishes all cause of fever of every kind. It acts on the stomach, that great reservoir of the human system, a diseased state of which causes all diseases. No alteration in the usual habits of life is required, but the abstaining from distilled ardent spirits.

CERTIFICATE,

From Rev. Derick Lansing, D. D., Pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church in Utica.

UTICA, Jan. 6, 1830.

To Dr. Hitchcock.—Dear Sir: I have always been one of the number of those who have placed little confidence in nostrums or specifics, and for this reason, although I saw your advertisement of the Welch Medicamentum, I could not bring my mind to consent to use it. My sufferings, from indigestion, during the past summer, were so severe, as materially to affect my comfort, and my capacity for usefulness. I have reason to thank you, sir, that, on hearing of the state of my health, you kindly sent me your Medicamentum. I have taken it faithfully, and with entire success. I have not been visited with one of those turns of distress, which before were weekly periodical, since I began to take your valuable medicine. Could I receive the same relief which I have hitherto experienced, on condition of taking it for life, I should cheerfully comply with such condition. Your's, very truly, D. C. LANSING.

ANTI-DYSPEPTIC ELIXER.

ONE of the most agreeable and efficacious Medicines ever discovered for the permanent cure of those chronic states of derangement of the stomach, constituting that miserable disease called Dyspepsia.

The basis of this Elixer is vegetables, and perfectly innocent in its operation; it destroys that sour state of the stomach, the instant it is taken, and stops the morbid secretion, by giving strength to the muscular fibre of that important organ, by which means the peristaltic motion of the intestines is increased, and the costiveness obviated; a new action is given to the system, which puts an end to a train of distressing nervous sensations.

Another form of the disease in which the Elixer is admirably calculated to relieve, is the decline of fever, where the stomach will not bear the ordinary strengthening medicines indicated in such cases, it has the surprising effect of giving vigor, and restoring the natural secretions of the body, without increasing the febrile state. Not the least danger is to be apprehended from exposure to cold, while under the use of this medicine, nor will it interrupt necessary employment of the patient a single hour.

☞ A number of cases of cures performed by the Anti-Dyspeptic Elixer in the vicinity of Pittsburgh can be given.

GEO. W. CARPENTER'S
COMPOUND SYRUP OF LIVERWORT,

A SAFE and Valuable Medicine for Coughs, Spitting of Blood, Consumption, and Liver Complaints.

Most of the medicines made use of for the above diseases are of a stimulating nature, composed generally of Resins and Balsams, in alcoholic solutions, which, although sometimes giving temporary relief, in almost every instance where they are freely used, aggravate the disease, and reduce the strength of the patient.

This article possesses superior advantages over these preparations, its action being of a tonic, invigorating and strengthening nature, thus overcoming the disease by promoting expectoration, and gradually increasing the strength of the patient, and thus, without being attended with any unpleasant effects: it also agrees with the stomach, in a cases, and is a pleasant medicine to take.

PATENT PLANING MACHINE.—The right to use this valuable machine, invented and patented by William Woodworth, and known as Woodworth's Patent Planing Machine, may be obtained on application to the subscriber for the counties of Allegheny, Butler, Beaver, Washington, Green, Fayette, Somerset, Cambria, Indiana, Jefferson, Clearfield, M'Kean, Warren, Venango, Mercer, Crawford, and Erie, in the State of Pennsylvania. That part of Maryland lying west of the Blue Ridge; all that part of Virginia lying west of the Blue Ridge, except the county of Ohio. The whole of the state of Ohio except the counties of Hamilton, Butler, and Montgomery. The whole of the state of Kentucky, except the counties of Jefferson, Boone, Oldham, Gallatin, and Campbell. The whole of Indiana, except the counties of Floyd, Clark, Jefferson, Dearborn, and Switzerland. The whole of the state of Illinois, and the territory of Michigan. Rights to use the machine in that part of the United States, named above, will be sold by the single county or in larger districts. As it is presumed that no one will purchase without seeing the machine at work, a description of it is deemed unnecessary. Should any person, however, wish to purchase, and find it inconvenient to visit the places where it is in operation, a machine will be furnished, warranted to plane, tongue and groove, and bring to an exact width and thickness, a white pine board of 12 feet long, and of any width from 1 to 14 inches, in one minute and ten seconds, or an oak board of the same dimensions in 2 minutes and 10 seconds. Machines may be seen at work in the cities of New Orleans, Washington, Philadelphia, New York, Boston, and others at the south and east, at Wheeling, Virginia, and at the saw mill of Messrs. Irwin & Herron, in this city.

Persons desiring to purchase will have the certificates of scientific and practical men who have seen it at work, in the different places in which it has been put up, forwarded to them. They give their opinion as to the great value of the invention, state the time they have seen boards dressed by this machine, and describe the quality of the work as compared with that performed by hand labor.

VALUABLE PROPERTY FOR SALE.

THE Subscriber offers for sale the farm on which he lives, in Washington county, on Pigeon creek, one mile south of Williamsport, on the Monongahela river, to which there is a perfectly level road. This farm contains near 400 acres, the greater part of which is first rate land. There is on the premises a Brick Dwelling House, a Merchant mill, in good repair, a new saw mill, a stone still house, 35 by 40 feet; a salt works is also in operation, and worked to advantage; about 150 acres of land cleared and under good fence. There is on the premises three small tenements for the accommodation of families. This tract is well timbered, and abounds with stone coal and springs of water, both of the best quality.

To a person wishing to embark in a manufacturing business, and possessing capital, this would be a very desirable situation, having the advantage of both water power from Pigeon creek, and banks of the very best coal near to the works, and easy of access, and its vicinity to so navigable a river where articles of any kind are so cheaply transported to Pittsburgh.

For further particulars, apply to James P. Stuart, Merchant, Wood street, Pittsburgh, or to the subscriber on the premises.

TYPE FOUNDRY.

HAVING purchased of Mr. Richard Ronaldson, his long established and very extensive Type Foundry, the subscribers have formed a co-partnership for the purpose of continuing said business, and for the convenience of their friends and patrons, have removed their establishment to a more central part of the city. As it is their intention to keep on hand a good assortment of the best type, and to make such additions and improvements as the taste of the trade and the wants of the country require, they flatter themselves that this establishment will merit a large share of patronage. They have now several founts on hand, which can be furnished at a few hours' notice, and are prepared to make founts of all weights and sizes, from Pearl to 22 lines Pica, including a variety of Ornamental Letter. Their assortment of Cuts, Dashes, Brass Rule, and other Ornaments, will be found to be very extensive, of which specimens will be forwarded to Printers as soon as they can be prepared.

Printing Presses of every description, Printing Ink of the most approved qualities, Composing Sticks, Brass and Common Galleys, Chases, Imposing Stones, Cases, Paper and Press Boards, Standing Presses, Furniture, together with a complete assortment of all articles used in a Printing Office, will be kept constantly on hand.

Small founts, suitable for Book Binders, in great variety, may be had when called for.
